

ilm Level 5 Qualification in Leadership & Management

The ilm Level 5 Qualification in Leadership and Management is a nationally recognised qualification that has been specially designed to support practising and potential middle and senior managers develop essential leadership knowledge and skills. This qualification can be adapted to reflect an individual's development needs by selecting specific units.

Programme Structure

To achieve the ilm Level 5 Award Qualification delegates are required to:

- Attend a one to one or group induction.
- Attend the selected Units to achieve the required Guided Learning Hours (GLH) - normally between 4 and 9 full-day workshops.
- Complete a tutorial for each of the chosen units.
- Submit the agreed assignment for each of the chosen units.

Individual Unit Certification is provided allowing delegates to pace their learning and development over a time-scale to manage personal commitments and work pressures. Unit cohorts are also inter-changeable allowing a degree of flexibility in scheduling workshops and time to complete the qualification.

Delegates may upgrade their qualification from an Award to a Certificate within a 3 year period of registration by gaining additional credits to the minimum value of 13.

ilm Membership

All registered delegates automatically become student members of the ilm for the duration of their programme. Designed to help delegates get the most from their course and advance their management career, studying membership gives access to a wide range of specialist support and development materials. Successful completion of a Level 5 qualification provides eligibility for a minimum grade of Associate Membership (AMInstLM) of the Institute of Leadership and Management.

Investment

The total investment for the ilm Level 5 Award Qualification in Leadership & Management is £1339. This includes a minimum of four full day workshops, all relevant materials, and assessments, one to one coaching support, ilm registration and certification, along with student membership allowing access to a wide range of support and development materials.

Bespoke In-house Programmes

Should you have eight or more candidates, an internal programme can be delivered for your organisation. Alternatively, if you have eight or more candidates and wish to select different optional units, a customised internal programme can be delivered for your organisation.
